Artist's Rendering of the Center

Opening fall 2010, the Performing Arts Center at Kent State Tuscarawas will be the home to several diverse series - big bang Broadway shows, culturally rich world music and dance offerings, and current popular artists from across different genres including country, rock and classical. Also featured will be family friendly matinees, make you laugh till you cry comedy shows and stand up comedians. We bring to our community the shows they have traditionally had to travel 100 miles to see.

The spectacular and high-tech Performing Arts Center features an 1,100-seat theatre with sweeping balconies that descend on either side of the house to touch the stage. Comfort of the audience, wonderful sight lines and superb acoustics make the Performing Arts Center at Kent State Tuscarawas a great place to see a show!
